FROM THE NAVIGATOR

Today is the final day of our transatlantic voyage, and QUEEN ELIZABETH's passage takes us over the Celtic Shelf. The seabed under the Celtic Sea is called the Celtic Shelf, part of the continental shelf of Europe. The northeast portion has a depth of between 90m and 100m, increasing towards Saint George's Channel. In the opposite direction, sand ridges pointing southwest have a similar height, separated by troughs approximately 50m deeper. These ridges were formed by tidal effects when the sea level was lower. We shall enter into Bishop Rock TSS at 6.00pm, passing the Isles of Scilly 16nm out to port. Heading Easterly, we expect to pass Lands End at 7.30pm, before entering the English Channel, keeping to the north of Casquets TSS.

Neither he nor his forty men were ever seen again. Three centuries later, John Geiger and a team of investigators traveled to a desolate outcrop in Hudson Bay to uncover the truth of Knight's disappearance. It took four arctic summers to gather the necessary evidence. This is the story both of a remarkable feat of archaeological detective work and of a group of brave men who died in the Arctic nearly three centuries ago. In the end, Knight's story is one of intrigue and betrayal.

In 1979, the American embassy in Iran was invaded by Iranian revolutionaries and several Americans were taken hostage. However, six managed to escape to the official residence of the Canadian Ambassador and the CIA was eventually ordered to get them out of the country. With few options, exfiltration expert Tony Mendez devised a plan: to create a phony film project looking to shoot in Iran and smuggle the Americans out as its production crew. However, time was running out with the Iranian security forces closing in on the truth while both his charges and the White House had grave doubts about the operation themselves. Starring Ben Affleck and John Goodman. Directed by Ben Affleck. Running time: 115 minutes 2012.

DID YOU KNOW...

Interesting point to note from the legacy that is Cunard

It was 12 years since the last Cunarder to be built - SYLVANIA - that the 'reluctant queen', QUEEN ELIZABETH 2 was launched. Her design was a departure, illustrative of the swinging sixties but perhaps most controversial was her single rakish funnel which had been painted white. It stayed white until her second controversial colour change in 1982 when her hull was painted pebble grey following the Falklands conflict at the recommendation of the then Chairman's wife. This colour remained for less than a year when she returned to traditional Cunard colours.
